

BETTY & JAMES E. BIRREN SENIOR SCHOLAR AWARD

Purpose, Criteria, & Guidelines

PURPOSE:

The Betty and James E. Birren Senior Scholar Award is one of two awards created by the California Council on Gerontology and Geriatrics (CCGG) in honor of Betty and James E. Birren. It recognizes outstanding achievements of individuals who have spent the majority of their careers (maybe a lifetime career or a career in the middle-to-late stages) working in and contributing to the fields of gerontology and/or geriatrics in California, and promoting the advancement of gerontology and/or geriatrics as fields of study in California.

Throughout their professional lives as scholars, Betty and James E. Birren have established in California an academic environment of excellence in teaching, research, scholarship, and mentorship that has received international recognition as a model of gerontology and geriatrics higher education. The award is to recognize senior scholars who have made similar contributions to those valued by the Birrens.

CRITERIA:

Candidates who have studied gerontology or geriatrics in an institution of higher education are more likely to be considered for the award.

Teaching:

Candidates have made, or are making, outstanding contributions to the field of gerontology and geriatrics education through teaching, program development and administration, and interpretation of knowledge throughout their careers, or with a specific major career-culminating achievement or contribution.

Research or Scholarship:

Candidates have made, or are making, significant contributions to the fields of gerontology and/or geriatrics through research, experimentation, or other scholarly investigations as demonstrated in scholarly publications, texts, training materials, electronic materials, or related works.

Leadership or Mentorship:

Candidates actively support the fields of gerontology and/or geriatrics through encouragement of students and colleagues, new professionals, new directions in the professions, or policy development, and through active participation within professional organizations, institutions of higher education, practice, and public service in government agencies or committees.
